About Disability Services

Disability Services will help to transform George Mason University into an inclusive and accessible university where programs, services, and environments are accessible by all people. We will do this by:

- Promoting equitable access for students with disabilities in all activities within the university experience
- Fostering partnerships with students, faculty, and staff to create an accessible, diverse, and inclusive community
- Increasing inclusivity within the University community for individuals who identify with the disability community

Eligibility

Disability Services provides long term and short term academic, nonacademic, housing, and meal plan accommodations for Mason students. To register with Disability Services, students must complete the following steps:

- Complete and submit the intake form.
- Submit documentation of disability from the appropriate health care provider.
- Participate in an interactive initial meeting to discuss accommodations.

Services

Disability Services has continual enrollment and provides accommodations for documented disabilities at any point in a student's academic career. Accommodations are developed based on individual student needs and documentation.
