About Student Conduct

The Office of Student Conduct addresses alleged violations of the Code of Student Conduct, which outlines the expectations of student behavior both on and off campus. It is our goal that as students make their way through the student conduct process, they will leave as better educated students, considerate members of the University community, and better global citizens.

Know The Code!

We work with the Mason community to uphold the Code of Student Conduct, serving as neutral decision makers, and encouraging thoughtful decision making. The student conduct process allows the opportunity for students to meet with staff to discuss any alleged violations of the Code of Student Conduct. Members of the community can submit a referral if they believe a violation has occurred. At the same time, members of the community who have been referred can expect to be treated with fairness and respect. The Code of Student Conduct outlines the rights and expectations of our process.

Programming

In addition to overseeing student cases, Student Conduct also offers students the opportunity to serve as decision makers by participating on a student board. The Community Adjudication Board (CAB) and the Residential Adjudication Board (ResBoard) are student led boards that hear different types of Conduct or Housing cases for students who request to have their case reviewed by their peers, rather than an Administrator.
